

VIEWING OF APARTMENT UNITS DURING THE COVID-19 CRISIS

NEW HEALTH SAFETY GUIDELINES

In these times of great uncertainty, it is incumbent upon us to take all feasible measures to ensure the safety of our staff, or our tenants, and of the community at large. Therefore, effective immediately, and until further notice, all applicants must be asked all of the following questions prior to their being shown any vacant apartment units:

1. Have you returned to Canada in the last 14 days after having travelled abroad?
2. Have you had close contact with someone confirmed to have COVID-19?
3. Have you had close contact with someone who has travelled abroad and who is showing one of more of the following symptoms, namely fever or chills, cough, or breathing difficulties?
4. Are you yourself experiencing any one or more of the above symptoms?

If the applicant answers “yes” to any one or more of the above questions, they must NOT be permitted access to any of our buildings. They should be informed that they may contact us again in no less than 14 days, at which time they must submit to the exact same 4 questions.

This procedure is vital to us all, and is to be adhered to strictly, without exception.

Thank you for your diligence.
